STOP THE BAN!

Unfair. Wrong Approach.

Denver's Unfair Ballot Measure Prohibiting Slaughterhouses

WHAT THE MEASURE DOES

- Unfairly targets a single employee-owned business in Denver and forces it to close.
- Eliminates 160 well-paying employee-owner jobs, resulting in lost income and access to health care.
- Requires the city to “prioritize residents whose employment is affected by the ordinance in workforce training or employment assistance programs” but does not guarantee or offer any financial assistance or compensation.
- This measure is unfair, ineffective, and simply the wrong approach.

FACTS ABOUT SUPERIOR FARMS

- Superior Farms was founded in 1964.
- Superior Farms is employee-owned, providing well-paying jobs and benefits to 160 hardworking individuals and their families.
- Superior Farms offers 100% Halal certified, which is based on humane treatment throughout the entire lifecycle of the animal.
- Superior Farms has in recent years reduced its use of energy, water, diesel fuel and plastics as part of its dedication to the environment.

IMPACTS TO THE CITY

- This measure could cost taxpayers $70 million or more to compensate Superior Farms for taking its property and forcing it to shut down. Denver could use that money for other critical city services.
- Consumers will pay more for meat shipped from out of state if Superior Farms is forced to close. Higher prices unfairly burden low-income families.

IMPLICATIONS FOR COLORADO

- Negatively impacts the state's economy and our important agricultural industry – the second largest industry in the state.
